STOCKS SAG IN HEAVY MARKET

Front-taking activity by the "shorts" and selling pressure all had a material effect on the New York stock market today. In the early dealings, and it was only through the vigorous support of the bulls, secured for the reduction in the Bank of England, rate to 2 per cent, that prices did not set off sharply. As it was, the decline did not get in any case much over a half, and the majority of issues were fractional. There were one or two rallies, and leading issues like steel, which had been sold off from an over-optimistic basis, but the general movement was downward, and at the close was the ruling price.

NORTON HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Following a hearing in the District Court today, Michael H. Norton, charged with the murder of Miss Mary McCarthy of No. 27 Phinney street, Boston, a week ago, was held for the trial

July without bail. Norton presented a pathetic figure in court when, faced with the possibility of a life sentence and the prospect of a long and painful imprisonment, he was told that he was to be held without bail. The witness, Mrs. Mary McCarthy, who lives at No. 27 Phinney street, Boston, testified that she saw Norton on the night of the murder, and that he was in a state of insanity.

Remarkable Letter From Mother of Stanford White's Slayer Shows That Even as a Youngster He Was Regarded as "Unbalanced." Sensation Caused by Former Teacher on Witness Stand To-day.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. "I sometimes think he (Harry Thaw) is more or less unbalanced."

These words were written twenty-five years ago by Mrs. William Thaw, a mother of her son, Harry. When they were read to-day in court from a letter yellowed with age they produced a sensation. It was the strongest proof that the remorseless Littleton has yet produced that Harry Thaw, the slayer of Stanford White, inherited insanity which has held him in its grip since birth.

HOLD THREE FOR BURGLARY

A burglary trail that led from a series of breaks in the South End to the open door of a farmhouse in the village of No. 8 Ruggles street has resulted in the arrest of a man and two women, John Bennett, John Hardy, of No. 24 Hanson street, Mrs. M. Hardy, known as Bennett's mother, and John King, both living at the Hanson street place.

The words "Remnant" and "Odd Lot" are terms signifying special desirability, because they mean that very low clearance prices are attached to ends and odd merchandise that is right in season and in perfect condition. We offer no samples, secondeds, soiled, mused or imperfect merchandise unless plainly advertised as such and priced accordingly. The last four or five yards of a piece of goods, or the last two (three of a dozen, are just as good as the first, are they not? Of course. Yet you will readily understand that when hundreds of such bits and few accumulations, as they must in a great store like this, it becomes necessary imperative—to clear the shelves out, for new things are constantly pouring in and demanding space. Sales continue through SATURDAY, or as long as our lot lasts.

Music and Baths Are Two of the Best of Life's Luxuries

By Beatrice Fairfax.

I find all the money I wanted to be very extravagant in two ways. I would have all the good things I could eat, and I would like to have a bath every day.

It may seem a little extravagant to you, but I find that a bath every day is a luxury that I cannot do without. I find that a bath every day is a luxury that I cannot do without.

Expensive Poison
A THOUGHTFUL man once wrote the poem "The Poison of the Bath." It is a poem that is very true.

But if you cannot afford to have a bath every day, you can still have a bath every day. You can still have a bath every day.

It is true that a bath every day is a luxury that I cannot do without. It is true that a bath every day is a luxury that I cannot do without.
